

REEL FUN!

Fishing in Vermont State Parks

Fishing in Vermont State Parks Reel Fun for All Ages and Anglers!

Vermont has some of the highest-quality and most-diverse freshwater fishing opportunities in New England with great fishing to offer at most Vermont State Parks.

Forty-six of Vermont's state parks have fishing opportunities directly on site or within a short walk. And, the remaining six parks have fishing opportunities within a 5-mile drive.

We hope you will consider taking advantage of the phenomenal fishing that Vermont State Parks have to offer.

New to fishing? No fishing gear? No worries – we've got you covered!

Several Vermont State Parks offer "Let's Go Fishing" clinics where trained instructors teach and encourage beginners how to fish. The instructors teach fishing skills, how to use different types of tackle, the importance of good aquatic habitat, fishing ethics and fishing regulations.

Some Vermont State Parks are also participating in the "Reel Fun" initiative, a cooperative effort between Vermont Fish & Wildlife and Vermont State Parks to provide loaner fishing equipment—including rods, reels, line and tackle as well as guides to the local fishing—to help provide park visitors instant access to the sport of fishing.

Additionally, Vermont State Parks offer a range of rental boats for anglers to use including rowboats, canoes, kayaks and pedal boats.

Visit the contact station at your state park to find out more about how you can get started on a Vermont fishing adventure!

Tips on handling and releasing fish

While harvesting and eating freshly caught fish is an enjoyable part of the angling experience, catch and release angling can also be a rewarding pastime. In certain instances, regulations may actually require you to release your catch (see Vermont Fish & Wildlife Regulations Guide). Using the proper techniques when releasing fish will help ensure the fish will survive to be caught again. Here are some tips:

- Don't play the fish to complete exhaustion.
- Minimize the fish's time out of the water. If at all possible, keep the fish in the water while you remove the hook.
- Consider pinching down the barbs on your hooks to make hook removal much easier.
- If the fish is hooked deep in the throat, gills, or stomach, simply cut the line close to the fish's mouth. The fish may have a good chance of surviving, and the hook will eventually rust out.

Fishing at Camp Plymouth State Park on Echo Lake

Lake Area: 104 acres Lake Max. Depth: 91 feet

Fish Species: Rainbow, brown and lake trout, rainbow smelt, largemouth and smallmouth bass, chain pickerel, pumpkinseed sunfish, and catfish.

Habitat: Echo Lake provides diverse aquatic habitat to support the lake's wide range of fish species. The cove on the north side of the park (fishing dock side), and the delta of Buffalo Brook are both shallower areas that provide good cover for warm water species such as bass, pickerel and sunfish. The open lake in front of the swim area is the deepest part of the lake and creates key habitat for cold water dwelling trout and smelt.

Park Fishing Tips: Try your luck fishing for bass in the cove on the north side of the park. Use a spinner, popper or soft plastic bait. For trout, troll the deeper waters directly out from the swim area, or halfway between the island and the eastern (park) side of the lake. Use a three-way swivel with a natural or artificial bait, spinner or spoon to go after fish near the bottom.

Nearby Fishing License Dealers:

You can purchase a fishing license at the park, at the Tyson Village Store or the Ludlow Town Clerk—both located in nearby Ludlow, or online at vtfishandwildlife.com.

What kind of facilities do the parks have?

Vermont State Parks provide the perfect setting for many fun outdoor activities – hiking, wildlife watching, and of course tossing a line out and reeling in your next big catch. Most parks offer car-top launches for canoes and kayaks, and motorboat launching access areas are available across the state.

At Camp Plymouth on Echo Lake, campers may launch their canoes or kayaks from the park shoreline, or take advantage of the Vermont Fish & Wildlife Fishing Access Area on the west side of the lake, which features a concrete boat ramp suitable for various types of watercraft, including motorboats.

Whether you bring your boat and head out on local waters, or fish from shore at a nearby fishing hole, Vermont State Parks have the facilities to make for a truly enjoyable stay.

What a deal!

The second Saturday in June is Free Fishing Day where anyone can fish anywhere in Vermont for free.

The rest of the summer, you'll need a fishing license, even at a State Park. Vermont offers inexpensive, short-term licenses for just a few bucks and kids under 15 can fish for free!

Or you can get a year-round fishing license that costs only as much as a tank of gas or a couple of movie tickets. But unlike gas or movie tickets, your fishing license lets you fish for a whole year, anywhere in the state, with just a single purchase. Buy and download it to your phone and you'll be all set.

See www.vtfishandwildlife.com to find out more.

Fishing licenses are available right at the contact office at many state parks and at authorized license agents. You can find a list of these online at www.vtfishandwildlife.com.
